

1 Aim of the document

This document has been created in order to take a decision about the physical topology of our satellite's network. It is a very important decision due to the fact that reliability, performance and security are related with the physical topology. The most usual are:

- Mesh
- Star
- Bus
- Ring
- Hybrid

In the following section the members of the groups will explain what they think the best option is, giving reasons for and against that decision.
